Learning to Learn: Tips for Thriving in Tech Training
(Summary of Four Main Learning Points from Video)
Latest Update: October 1, 2013

1. One learning tip contained in this lesson is that our previous successes using technology in our work can help us incorporate new technology into our work in ways that help us serve those who rely on us.
2. A second learning tip contained in this lesson is that by providing tech training, our organization is demonstrating an interest in seeing us succeed in our learning efforts.
3. A third learning tip contained in this lesson is that there are a variety of ways our organization can support our learning efforts if initial lessons don't help us reach our learning goals.
4. A fourth learning tip contained in this lesson is that by recognizing and acting to reduce stress induced by learning, we can increase the chances that we will be successful learners.
